Sage the gemini 2020

be the first to know about new events in your area. Sage the Gemini, born Dominic Woods, is a Bay Area rapper and producer who spits out rhymes so casually that it seems effortless. The young performer embraces curse words often enough to make your parents scream, but they help to make his point in graphic tracks like Red Nose and Swerve. Sage the Gemini is also part of the hip-hop collective The HBK Gang, also known as The Heartbreak Gang. Gas Pedal, the title song of his 2013 EP, features one of the group's founders – rapper and record producer Iamsul. This single worked its way up to number 29 on the Billboard Hot 100, making it into the top 40 for the first song by the two artists. In August 2013, Sage the Gemini signed to Universal Republic Records and is working on a full-length debut, followed by a support tour through U.S. concert stops. In the meantime, he helps sell tickets as part of the bill for heavy acts like Ice Cube, as well as along with other up-and-comers Kidd Swagg, LoveRance and Iamsul, among others. At 6 feet 5-inch tall, Sage The Gemini quietly reveals his presence when he walks in a room with a confident smle. The same presence defines his music. The 23-year-old Bay Area native is distinguished by not only writing, rapping and singing, but also personally producing, recording and even mixing most of his material. It's like I'm a one-man band, he grins. I never wanted to be the guy who says, 'I don't have music out because I don't have anyone to pick me up or give me a beat.' I've invested everything in this vision so I can always create songs in my own way. His signature touch has produced an impressive series of smashes since it first appeared in 2013. Without cosign any kind of traditional advertising, Sbeie's self-produced breakout single Gas Pedal went [feat. Iamsul] double platinum and became his first Top 40 entry; receive the remix treatment from none other than Justin Bieber. He followed with Red Nose, also self-produced, which went from a regional sensation to a national hit and received a RIAA platinum certification. His debut album Remember Me received a lot of applause and bowed out in the top 50 of the Billboard Top 200. Next, he teamed up with Nick Jonas in 2015 for the hit Good Thing, which lit up Billboard's Hot 100 charts and reached over 17 million YouTube/VEVO views. He fulfilled a life-long dream and teamed up with Flo Rida for the Platinum G.D.F.R. —which came in the top 10 in ten countries and reached 250 million YouTube/VEVO views. Along the way, he toured with Wiz Khalifa, Jeezy, Rich Homie Quan and Ty Dolla Sign, and performed two anthems for the #1 Furious 7 Official Soundtrack album and Praise from Complex, Noisye, The Fader, XXL and more. Fresh Empire focused on him for the documentary Sage The Gemini's The Come Up, which explored his alcohol- and tobacco-free lifestyle. Initiation of a partnership for all his solo music between his own Gemini Label and Atlantic Records in autumn 2016, Sage remains ready to achieve its greatest impact to date. I don't feel like this is opening a new chapter, he admits. I feel like I'm finally starting the first chapter. It's as if we had just planned to write the book in recent years. We have exploited the bad and accepted the good. This is the beginning here. His 2016 single Now or Later and the first release from his new partnership with Atlantic Records, sage happily sees names check Lucious and Cookie by Empire and John Cena before he rife into the smooth and sugary refrain with clever candy references: I just have a great imagination, time, he continues. My songs are based on it. I see color in my music. It reminds me of sweets, cars or a girl. It just flowed on this one. As Sage puts it, it brings back the imagination. Pop culture could certainly use a healthy dose of fun, and he's serious about it. I'm like a big, disgusting kid. I love cartoons. Amazing World of Gumball, Family Guy, American Dad and The Cleveland Show are some of my favorites. These days, it's too bleak. I like to keep it positive. This is precisely why Sage's music will resonate for a very long time to get with the listeners everywhere. Sage literally drives every element of his music. As a multi-talented, he is an accomplished producer whose vision has fueled most of his greatest successes from foundation to chart dominance. I love the challenge of making catchy urban music and doing bigger things because I want to be the greatest artist on the planet, he adds. Sage the Gemini (born June 20, 1992) is an American musical rapper and hip hop artist from Fairfield, California. At the age of 11, Woods began recording his music with his brothers after buying a microphone at the local music store. At the age of 14, he dropped out of high school to make music and played music in a group called Tree Boys with his cousin. After choosing his stage name Sage the Gemini, which was a nod to his zodiac sign, Woods released his first single You Should Know on MySpace in 2008. The song was an instant viral sensation and earned him a record deal with Black Money Music Group. In 2013, Sage the Gemini released two major singles: Red Nose and Gas Pedal. The song Red Nose reached number 10 on the Billboard charts of US hot rap songs. The song has a minimal drum rhythm in the background, while an airy-sounding synthesizer line plays over the beats. The minimal instrumentation in the song allows Sage the Gemini to show his strong vocal qualities. The Single Gas Pedal was also a commercial success, finishing 29th in the Hot 100 reached the charts and was later platinum certified. The song includes the rapper Iamsul, who performed the song with Sage the Gemini late in the day. T.v show Late Show with David Letterman. Since Red Nose and Gas Pedal were constantly played on radio stations, the record label Republic Records signed a contract with him. Sage the Gemini released its debut album Remember Me with positive reviews on March 25, 2014. The album was praised for its eclectic mix of old hip-hop beats with modern auto-tuned vocals, making it a great party album. The album reached number47 of the Billboard 200. Sage the Gemini also collaborated with many well-known guests on the album such as Iamsul, Justin Bieber, Kool John and Berner. Sage the Gemini is also a prominent performer who often plays shows, usually with his friends from The HBK Gang. He also had the opportunity to play at some of the most prestigious venues, such as the Red Rocks Amphitheatre, when he was an opening act for Young Jeezy.
